By Jack Johnson
jack@tajornewspapers.co.uk

A £110MILLION cancer research centre could open in Headington in the next four years

Oxford University want to open the Precision Cancer Medicine institute at its Old Road campus or at the Churchill Hospital in 2017 or 2018

The centre would work towards increasing cure rates and improving outcomes for cancer patients

Patients at the Churchill will participate in research carried out at the institute

Prof Gillies McKenna head of the Department of Oncology at Oxford University said the centre would design new drug treatments targeted at particular cancer tumours

He continued "Through the new institute we will aim to undertake research that will help doctors get the right treatment to the right patient, at the right time"

Trick or treat!

PUPILS at two Oxford schools tried their hand at carving and cooking pumpkins to prepare for Halloween tomorrow night.

Children at Windmill Primary in Margaret Road and Larkrise Primary in Foundary Brook Road shaped spooky faces and reused leftover pulp and seeds.

They made pumpkin scones, roast pumpkin seeds and jewellery out of leftovers.

Charity Groundwork South hosted the day as part of its Oxfordshire Green Schools initiative, funded by the county council.

Why shoppers love to splash the cash at Christmas time

RESEARCHERS at Oxford University say shoppers are persuaded to spend more at Christmas because of clever promotional campaigns

Experts at the Said Business School in Park End Street have co authored a research paper called the Journal of Consumer Psychology looking at the behav ior of shoppers

Boffins say marketing initia tives are all about matching the mindset of customers, achieving a fit

And the research suggests that at Christmas retailers do not need to offer price promotions or discounts as they can undermine the celebratory mindset of shoppers

Instead they can focus on the exclusivity and uniqueness of products

Prof Nancy Puccinelli, one of the authors of the paper said "Some seasonal campaigns have almost instinctively understood this connection

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"At Christmas, when messages are about promoting indulgence, consumers who want to maximise pleasure are more open to the idea of switching to premium brands and to spending more to get the most out of their purchases.

The Journal says that if shops send out the right message to consumers they can increase their chances of completing a purchase by 106 per cent.

She continued "Our research suggests that advertisers can create the desirable orientation within just one advert

"Put simply an appreciation of the importance of "fit" for consumer decision making means that small typically low cost changes to messaging, packaging and communications can have a profound impact on consumer choice

• Oxford University experts say shoppers like to spend more at Christmas because of their celebratory mindset

The research says the mindset of shoppers can be divided into two groups those avoiding risk and opportunity seekers

It says Back to School campaigns are related to avoiding the risk of children not being ready for lessons and day-to-day school life.

Prof Puccinelli added "We often see brands communicating ineffective or even counter productive ways, whereas sometimes small inexpensive changes to campaigns which take into account the importance of fit have very positive results."

A day of poetry honours ex-pupil killed in Afghanistan

• Students at Cothill House take part in the read a thon

A SCHOOL near Abingdon has raised £1,000 in memory of a former pupil who died serving in Afghanistan five years ago

Pupils at Cothill House school staged a 24 hour poetry read a thon earlier this month to raise money in tribute of Lieutenant Colonel Rupert Thornelow, who was killed in Helmand Province in 2009

The school holds a poetry reading each year in memory of Lt Colonel Thornelow who was a pupil at Cothill House from 1978 to 1983

But staff and students decided to take the competition a step further this year beginning their poetry readings at 9am on October 2 until the following morning

Money raised will be donated to The Afghan Connection, a charity which is building schools in the country

Duncan Bailey, headmaster at Cothill House said "I am incredibly proud of our staff and students who took part in the read a thon.

It was a brilliant way to remember the heroic efforts of our former pupil who was an excellent ambassador of the school and county

At Cothill House we have always believed people should be courageous and take on ambitious projects

He continued "Lt Colonel Thornelow embodied this spirit – his bravery is something our students can all aspire to"

CULHAM Sutton Bridge, the road going over the River Thames that links Culham with Sutton Courtenay is set to close for seven working days from November 13 for repairs

The bridge is expected to be closed for a week until Friday November 21

Boy attacked

OXFORD A 15 year-boy was seriously injured after he was attacked while waiting at a bus stop in New Road in the early hours of Sunday morning

At around 1 30am, the boy was involved in an argument with two men and a woman during which he was hit and kicked in the head while on the floor

He sustained a fracture to his eye socket and was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital where he has since been discharged.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Emma Thompson said "This was a really nasty attack on a young boy and I am appealing to anyone who may have seen anything to get in touch."

Anyone with information is asked to contact Det Con Thompson on 101

Homes plan

DIDCOT Several hundred new homes at Great Western Park were set to be given the green light as the Oxfordshire Guardian went to print last night.

The estate is earmarked for 3 300 homes and a further 247 were put in front of South Oxfordshire District Council's planning committee yesterday

However Didcot Town Council and Harwell Parish Council have objected to the plans due to concerns over the sewerage system an archeological trail and parking provision

So far 1 357 of the homes have been approved for the site with 750 occupied.

Crackdown on illegal tobacco in county

AROUND 1 500 illegal cigarettes have been seized from businesses in Oxford and Banbury as part of a crackdown by Oxfordshire County Council's Trading Standards team

It comes as part of Operation Henry a nine-region investigation on the supply of illegal tobacco which has already seen 5 300 cigarettes seized from five businesses in Cowley

And Trading Standards are appealing for anyone with information about the sale or storage of illegal tobacco to come forward

Jody Kerman of Oxfordshire Trading Standards said "We are always keen to hear from people with intelligence about potentially illegal tobacco

"Products such as these are known to bring low-level and organised crime into communities

It also creates unfair competition between local businesses by selling tobacco more cheaply than the going market rate which could put local jobs and business at risk."

Rodney Rose, deputy leader of the county council said It is encouraging to see that our Trading Standards team is taking steps to deal with sellers of potentially illicit tobacco

"Those who knowingly trade illegal cigarettes damage local communities as they put jobs and law-abiding businesses at risk by selling cheap products."

£110m centre set to open in Headington

• From front page

Oxford University secured a £35m grant from the Higher Education Funding Council (Hefce) last Thursday October 23

And contributions from proposed partners including Cancer Research UK would make up the remaining £75m.

Significant investment will be put into the operation at a proton beam research facility which uses high-energy radiation to destroy cancerous cells

Prof Andrew Hamilton, vice-chancellor of Oxford University said: "The Hefce award is tremendous news

"It represents a very large investment in the future of cancer medicine

"This research will show how advances in treatments can improve outcomes for cancer patients in Oxfordshire and around the world.

Sir Jonathan Michael, chief executive of Oxford University Hospitals added: "This new centre is a fantastic opportunity for our patients and staff to take part in clinical trials of cutting edge treatments."

Plans for the centre will have to go on show to the public before they can be submitted to Oxford City Council

Oxford University spokesperson Jonathan Wood said there was still "much to be done" before an application could be handed in

He added: "This is an announcement of funding not an announcement of a plan for a build

Stephen Gillespie, of no fixed abode, was sentenced at Oxford Magistrates' Court on October 17 after pleading guilty to a burglary in Bartlemas Road on September 7

Gillespie has also been ordered to pay a victim surcharge of £120

School plans

OXFORD Pupils at St Mary and St John CE Primary School will be united in one building as of September 2015

The school is currently split between Meadow Lane and Hertford Street but as of next year five to 11-year olds will all be based at the former Headteacher Liz Burton said: "I am so thrilled that this is going to happen

"I know that the younger children will be able to learn from the older children and vice versa."

The current nursery school will remain in Hertford Street

Building work will start in spring next year

Flooded homes residents to have tax bills paid

RESIDENTS who were forced to move out of their homes when a water main burst last month will have their council tax bills paid for by Thames Water

Houses in Normandy Crescent in Oxford were flooded for a second time in seven years on September 23 with many residents forced out their homes

And Thames Water, who run the water main that burst, will pay the council tax on all the affected properties from September 22 to January 1

For those who have moved into temporary accommodation which have higher council tax bills, Thames Water will also pay the difference

Rob Price, leader of Oxford City Council, said: "The past couple of weeks will have been a traumatic experience for everyone affected by flooding.

"We welcome the confirmation by Thames Water through their insurer that they will settle council tax liability for the period of non occupation of the Normandy Crescent dwellings

Stuart White, spokesman for Thames Water added: "There is no way customers should be paying their council tax bill twice in these circumstances, so we are pleased to have now covered all this significant expense

"If any customer faces an increased council tax liability in their alternative accommodation, we will make up the difference so they are paying what they are used to."

Fire fighter strikes over bonfire weekend

OXFORDSHIRE fire fighters are holding their longest fire strike yet during bonfire and firework weekend

The latest Fire Brigades Union (FBU) strike will start at 6pm tomorrow October 31 and end at 6pm on Tuesday November 4

Staff are striking over a national dispute between the union and central government over pension reforms

It is the longest fire strike so far and coincides with many bonfire night celebrations taking place across Oxfordshire on Saturday and Sunday including the fireworks display at South Park, Oxford

However the county's chief fire officer Dave Etheridge says every 999 call will be responded to and cover will be provided for those on strike

Mr Etheridge said "I want to reassure the county's public that every emergency call made to the Fire and Rescue Service during the latest scheduled national strike periods will be responded to

"We have a cover plan in place which we have utilised well during previous strikes."

He added "There is an agreement with the FBU locally that striking fire fighters will return to work if an incident occurred which required a significant amount of them to attend

Mr Etheridge also urged residents in Oxfordshire to check that their smoke alarms work, electrical sockets were not overloaded and their vehicles were road safe in an effort to reduce call outs during the strike period

Oxfordshire County Council is responsible for the fire service and deputy leader Rodney Rose said there was little that can be done locally to resolve the strike action.

He said "This national strike is the result of an ongoing dispute between the FBU and central government and locally there is little we can do to help resolve things

"We do in Oxfordshire have robust contingency plans in place that have worked successfully to cover previous strikes and we will continue to use these arrangements to cover the latest scheduled period of industrial action."

"We gave her a meal a warm bed and lots of tender loving care and she is doing really well

"We always try to get kittens out into foster homes as it is a much better environment for them to grow up in

"If anyone thinks they can help we'd love to hear from them."

Blenheim duke buried at palace

• James, the new Duke of Marlborough, leads his father's wife Lilly Mahlum to the church

HUNDREDS gathered outside St Mary Magdalene church in Woodstock on Friday to pay their respects to the 11th Duke of Marlborough on the day of his funeral.

John George Vanderbilt Henry Spencer-Churchill, cousin of Winston Churchill, died peacefully aged 88 on October 16.

People of all ages watched on as the duke's coffin was taken to the church from Blenheim Palace in a glass-sided black carriage pulled by two horses.

The 300 seats in the church were all full and the hundreds outside listened to the service through loudspeakers.

Trevor Harvey, 72, from Woodstock, said attending the funeral was a "once in a lifetime experience" and a "historic moment" for the town.

Roy Pugh, 60, from Bladon, added: "We're not likely to see another duke off and I think he did a very good job at Blenheim – I enjoy using the park."

Sally Ann Rogers, 43, from Woodstock said: "It is like being part of history. It is a very historic town and something I can share with my son."

The duke's family and friends, including his eldest son James, who will succeed him as the 12th duke, followed the carriage as it made its way from and to the palace.

His body was carried into the church by his chauffeur, Blenheim's maintenance manager and four groundskeepers.

The duke was taken back to the palace's crypt where he was buried with the previous 10 dukes.

Mayor of Woodstock, Julian Cooper, said before entering the church: "It is a very sad day for the community of Woodstock and Blenheim and we will be remembering a man that was head and shoulders above his contemporaries.

"The duke has modernised the operation of the palace and really brought a good level of economic activity into the community.

His children Lady Alexandra, Lord Edward, Lady Henrietta and Lord James, the 12th duke, all gave readings.

Reverend Canon Adrian Daffern, the duke's chaplain, who led the service, said: "Our friendship was brought about by circumstance – in my case appointment in his case birth.

New home for iconic Constable painting

RENOWNED 18th and 19th century painter John Constable s work 'Willy Lott s House from the Stour' has a new home at Oxford s Ashmolean Museum

The Beaumont Street museum announced it acquired the painting on Tuesday

It is the first finished piece by Constable to be entered into the Ashmolean s collection, believed to have been painted between 1816 and 1818

The painting was acquired by the Ashmolean through an Acceptance in Lieu scheme, meaning it was given to the museum by Arts Council England to settle the original owner s inheritance tax bill of more than £1million

Dr Alexander Sturgis director of the Ashmolean said "It is a huge honour to receive this beautiful painting the first finished work by Constable to come to the Ashmolean in my first month as director

"The museum is profoundly grateful to Arts Council England for its support

"The painting is on display in the 19th Century Gallery where it can now be enjoyed by thousands of visitors in perpetuity"

Sir Peter Bazalgette chair of Arts Council England added

By Adam Flinn
adam@tajlornewspapers.co.uk

"This gorgeous oil painting, a different view of the famous Haywain, is a wonderful addition to the Ashmolean and joins its existing collection of Constable oil sketches

"The Acceptance in Lieu scheme has once again delivered a really important acquisition for the nation."

The farmhouse in the picture appeared in Constable s work from 1802 without being included in 'The Valley Farm' and seen from another angle in 'The Hay Wain'

Willy Lott is understood to have lived in the house for more than 80 years only spending four days away from it and being there on the time of Constable s birth in 1776 and his death in 1837

It represented a continuity of tradition and farming that Constable admired, which is why it featured in several of his pieces

The painting was formerly owned by Jonathan Peel younger brother of former prime minister Sir Robert Peel and has previously appeared in the National Gallery and New York Public Library

Cyclists fined

OXFORD Police issued 267 cyclists in High Street and Abingdon Road with £50 fines after they were caught riding without lights between 6pm and 9pm on Monday

It was part of a police cycle lights campaign after clocks went back the day before

Cyclists caught have the option of buying a set of front and rear lights and showing the receipt at any police station within seven days to avoid paying the fine.

Road safety constable Mark Pilling said "This is aimed at educating cyclists about how important it is that they are fully visible to road users

"We stopped a significant amount of cyclists so I would encourage others to get lights for their safety and to avoid any fines"

Big clean up

BICESTER Rubbish amounting to the weight of a killer whale has been removed from the streets of Southwold in Bicester Cherwell District Council announced.

Five officers from the council spent a total of 30 hours clearing more than eight and a half tons of rubbish from streets verges and green spaces in the area

Households also took advantage of a free waste collection service to get rid of 660kg of unwanted furniture from their homes

The district council's lead member for clean and green Tony Ilott said "It never ceases to amaze me just how much rubbish can be strewn across one area at any time"

Return of Post Office to Horspath

POST Office services are to return to Harspath for the first time since the former branch in the village closed more than three years ago

A hosted outreach service will come to the village every Friday to the Horspath Hub in the Old Chapel, roughly 100 metres from the site of the old branch

The old branch closed in September 2011, which the Post Office put down to circumstances beyond their control and the withdrawal of premises for their use

The new service will see the subpostmaster from Great Milton Post Office come to the village between 10am and 1pm each Friday

Graham Simmons Post Office field change advisor said "We understand how important having a Post Office is to residents in Horspath

"We are confident the hosted outreach service will meet the needs of the local community and secure services for the future

"This is part of a major investment programme the largest in the history of the Post Office, and marks a commitment to no more branch closure programmes"

HGV driver is jailed for M40 death crash

A LORRY driver who crashed into a broken down car on the M40 between Bicester and Oxford, killing a female passenger was sentenced to four and a half years in prison last week

Jose De Sousa, of Uxbridge Road in Feltham West London, was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on October 22 after pleading guilty to causing death by dangerous driving.

The collision took place on March 28 last year at around 2.30am when De Sousa was driving a HGV between junctions 8 and 8A on the M40.

He crashed into stationary white Peugeot 407 which had broken down in the first lane, instantly killing 35-year-old Ausra Budreckaite, who was in the front seat of the car.

An investigation by police concluded De Sousa was tired or distracted at the time of the crash.

He was charged on October 16 last year and pleaded guilty at court last Tuesday during the trial after the opening speeches but before witness evidence was heard.

De Sousa was also disqualified from driving for 10 years.

By Adam Flinn
adam@bicesternewspapers.co.uk

Investigating officer Detective Sergeant Kerry Clarke said: "This sentence sends a clear message to those who choose to gamble with the lives of others by driving whilst unfit to do so through tiredness or any other reason.

"De Sousa's decision to drive his heavy goods vehicle whilst unfit to do so resulted in the death of another person.

Thames Valley Police will continue to investigate the actions of those who cause death on the roads in our region and press for the heaviest penalties against those who are convicted of such crimes."

Santas get on board for hospice

MORE than 650 people have signed up to dress as Santa Claus for a fun run through the streets of Oxford in December to raise money for children's hospice Helen & Douglas House.

Santas on the Run takes place annually in the city with 1,700 spaces available for the event.

And bus company Stagecoach are set to support the event, with 20 members of staff taking part in the run on December 14.

"We are thrilled that the team at Stagecoach have shown such enthusiasm in supporting us by signing up as part of their partnership with us," said Aimie Edwards, corporate partnerships manager at Helen & Douglas House.

"This year we are expecting more teams than ever to get into the festive spirit and run together in aid of Helen & Douglas House, whether they are from local companies, schools, churches, or friends and family."

Karen Coventry, business development manager at Stagecoach in Oxfordshire is one of those who will be taking part.

She said: "I am really excited about taking part in my first Santas on the Run and getting together with colleagues from Stagecoach to do something completely different for an excellent cause."

To sign up, go to helenanddouglas.org.uk.

Flat fire rescue

ABINGDON Fire fighters rescued a woman from a flat in Abingdon on Saturday morning after being called by a neighbour who could hear the smoke alarm.

Crews were called at 5.32am to a flat in Banbury Court, on Vineyard, after a resident in the flat above heard the alarm going off.

When fire fighters arrived the neighbour told them she thought someone might still be in the flat.

They then forced entry inside using a sledgehammer and found the flat full of smoke, before they were able to rescue the woman inside.

The fire is believed to have been caused by cooking having been left unattended.

Watch manager Kevin Kerry said: "This fire highlights the importance of having working smoke alarms in your property and shows the dangers of leaving cooking unattended."

Day burglary

Didcot B fire 'has not cut spare energy capacity'

BOSSES at Didcot B Power Station have denied that the fire which knocked out half of its supply to the Natiooal Grid, has affected energy levels over the winter

One of the station's cooling towers caught fire ou October 10 and a blaze tore through a further three.

Early uveatigations have suggested a cooling fan failure was to blame

Technicians are still working to bring the plant back up to full capacity

Didcot B has been running at half of its capacity since the fire, and as of yesterday part of the unit that was affected by the fire was brought back online

Other power stations have beeu reportedly picking up the slack since the fire and the National Grid s winter outlook figures released ou Tuesday have revealed a spare capacity of 4 1 per cent

This is a decrease of 0 9 per cent from last year's estimate but the National Grid say the fire at Didcot B had uo impact while additioual reserves could see capacity go up to 5 1 per cent

Spokesperson Rehecca Watson said "We were able to absorb auy impact it might have had through generatiou elsewhere

"We always factor into what we do that things might go affiune

"We huuld in that reserve element every day We already take this into accouut"

Cordi O Hara director of market operation at the National Grid added "The electricity margiu has decreased compared to recent years but the outlook remains manageable"

RWE npower operate Didcot B and spokespersou Kelly Brown said there is always a "buffer zooe" should there be any incidents like the fire earlier this month.

She added "Alt power stations feed into the Natiooal Grid and it is their joh to balance the capacity across the UK

"There is always a buffer zone should a big power station trip ar fall offline"

A winter warning

CARERS are urging Oxfordshire's elderly to stay warm ahead of the looming cold snap after figures reveal the county's excess winter deaths

Wallingford-based home care provider Bluebird Care have launched a campaign calling for people to heat bedrooms to 18°C.

According to the Office of National Statistics there were 330 excess winter deaths in Oxfordshire because of extreme weather over winter 2013 to 2013.

More detailed figures for 2011 to 2012 revealed that South Oxfordshire had the highest excess winter deaths in the county with 100.

Oxford and West Oxfordshire both had 60 while Vale of White Horse had 50.

The results calculated by subtracting the amount of average non winter deaths from winter deaths, sparked the warning.

Bluebird director Robert Mezo said: "We love to talk about the weather in this country but we are often unaware of the real threat to life that our winters can cause for older and vulnerable people.

"After a long warm summer we must not be complacent.

"We're urging everyone to think warmth this winter and to help to prevent the thousands of needless cold weather deaths each year.

County above UK average for GCSEs

By Adam Flinn
adam@trinitynewspapers.co.uk

MORE than 50 per cent of students in Oxfordshire achieved five GCSEs graded A* to C including English and Maths this year, two per cent above the national average.

Oxfordshire County Council published the county's GCSE figures last Thursday with 58.8 per cent of students from state-funded schools getting the grades, compared to the national average of 56.1 per cent.

Students in the county also made better than average progress in English and Maths, with Oxfordshire now in the top 25 per cent of local authority areas for the latter.

Melinda Tilley, the county councils cabinet member for schools said: "We have long said that we wanted Oxfordshire to be ahead of national averages and it is a delight to be able to say that in 2014 we have achieved that.

"What we must now guard against is complacency – these results will mean little if next year we are back in line with the national average or below it.

• Sam Barson and Connor Puffett, both 16, from King Alfred's Academy in Wantage, after collecting their results back in August

The aim must be for our schools to get ever better and extend the gap between Oxfordshire and the rest of the county."

This was the first year that schools are judged based on students first results rather than after resits which had been the case in the past.

Under the old measure 60.6 per cent of students in Oxfordshire gained five A* to C grades including English and Maths with the national average being 60.8 per cent.

Cllr Tilley added: "The new measure shows that Oxfordshire schools are better than the national average in delivering good GCSE results first time around without the need for resits.

Clearly the old system downplayed Oxfordshire's status in relation to the rest of the country.

"This measure shows us in a much better light demonstrating that our schools deliver better first time results than schools elsewhere."

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Are you ready for this?

BASED on one of the best British films of all time, the theatre production of the 1997 award winning movie, The Full Monty, will be dancing its way to the Oxford New Theatre next week.

Written by Simon Beaufoy the story circulates around six middle aged, unemployed men.

Four were made redundant from a local steel mill and to get some cash the friends decide to create their own male striptease dance routine.

By James Richings
james.richings@oxfordmail.co.uk

Actor Rupert Hill, who plays Guy told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "Once you agree to the job you've kind of got to get over the whole naked thing.

"There's no skirting around it, you know you are going to be naked on stage.

"If we were supposed to be the Chippendales then it would be horrendous, but the whole point is these are six ordinary blokes who are doing this to earn a few bob.

"That's what's nice about being all different ages and sizes, they're all normal chaps out there and that's what we are."

The 36-year-old said: "It was told that if a job ticks two out of three boxes then it's worth doing... good script, good part and good director.

"The Full Monty ticks all three, so for me it was a really easy decision and it's turned out to be fantastic.

"It's a lovely company and everyone gets on really well, we're having a lot of fun together both on stage and off."

Despite the comic touch, the film won praise for bringing issues like unemployment, fathers' rights, homosexuality and depression out of the woodwork and onto the screen.

Hill said it is important to bring them up while humouring the audience.

"That's the great thing about Simon's (Beaufoy) script," he said.

"It tackles a lot of important issues but it's also a great night out for the audience.

"There's the pay off at the end of the show but you can really feel the audience rooting for you because they care about what the characters have been through to get to that point."

Hill added: "The audience do go really crazy when we go the full monty – it's such a brilliant way to end the show."

The eight shows over six days run from October 30 to November 8 and are suitable for over 12s.

Tickets cost £13.50 to £32.50.

• (Left to right) Actors Andrew Dunn, Louis Emerick, Gary Lucy, Rupert Hill and Bobby Schofield playing the main characters

Stand up

Story of the Son of God

DESCRIBED as 'thrilling and thought-provoking', legendary actor Simon Callow is at Oxford Playhouse on Tuesday November 4, starring in The Man Jesus.

Written by Matthew Hurt, the one-man show sees Callow play various characters including Pontius Pilate, Herod Antipas, Jesus' mother Mary, Jesus' brother James – but not the main man himself.

The characters talk about and talk to the Son of God – and through them the audience begins to get a picture of what Jesus was like.

"The play attempts to put Jesus into the real world, to enable us to see him as a living human being, which is fascinating," Callow said.

"And at least since the Middle Ages people have been making plays about Jesus."

The 65-year-old has had a glittering career, appearing in many notable films such as children's classic James and the Giant Peach and 'Four Weddings and a Funeral'.

By James Richings
james.richings@oxfordmail.co.uk

But as the sole performer in the play – which is touring around the UK – Callow said he revels in the challenge.

"I enjoy the thrill of performing in a one-man show," he said.

"It's the most direct and the oldest way of telling stories – preceding books, plays, television or movies."

Callow added, "Stories bind audiences together, so that the energy in the auditorium rises massively as they experience the spell of the story.

"Is there any greater satisfaction than hearing a good story?

"And this one – as the man said, is the greatest one ever told."

Tickets have now sold out but to get onto the Oxford Playhouse waiting list visit www.oxfordplayhouse.com or ring 01865 305 305.

HMO your way to financial heaven

MARTIN&CO
the UK's №1 letting agent

It is Monday morning and it approximately 9 15am I have a call from a gentleman who has recently purchased a 3 bedroom property in Cowley Oxford

What will it rent for Richard? He asks My suspicions are immediately aroused by this question as I would have hoped my new investor friend might have had an idea on that front which presumably is part of the reason they decided to buy it!

Well that depends on how you wish to rent it sir I replied In what respect? He asks me clearly puzzled by the question

Well will you be looking for it to be a family home or will you go for sharers and an HMO license ?

Now at this stage it is still quite common to hear replies such as Whichever is easier or How do you get an HMO licence? or my personal favourite and still being asked by some people What is an HMO??

In brief an HMO is a House In Multiple Occupation It is a mandatory requirement for properties with 3 or more people who are not members of the same family Most significantly for all you Oxford folks it does apply to all property under this umbrella sitting within Oxford District Council.

Everything in this world has its pro's and cons and HMO (houses in multiple occupation) Licensing is no different but recent demand for professional sharers in Oxford makes the opportunity of obtaining and HMO licence way too hard for landlords to ignore

In recent times such has been the mad clamber for a decently appointed houses offering to 3 or more sharers that in some instances properties are letting way in excess of their asking price and within hours of coming to market Examples include

1 Bullingdon Road Cowley Rent £1300 Achieved £1650
2 Dene Road Headington Rent £1650 Achieved £1800

So today folks my advice comes from three fold

- For those unfamiliar with HMO licensing and what it entails seek me out and I will enlighten you
- For the investment buyer buying a property consider HMO licensing. Find out more about it Ask me Does the property you are buying have sharers in the property already or is it a family? Does it already have a licence? What is the current rent? What could it be?
- For those landlords with a property not let to sharers – bottom line is that if your property heavily lends itself to families and you are achieving optimum rent there is little sense in changing But if you would like to know more of what is involved then call me and I will bring you up to speed

The point of this post is to highlight the benefits of obtaining an HMO licence or asking enough questions to make an informed decision on which way to offer your property It is not the hassle and inconvenience that people would have you believe In fact it has never been easier There are hoops to jump through if you go down this route but the long term financial rewards are there for the taking if it is given proper consideration rather than dismissing it out of hand

An HMO licence can be the difference between £1300 and £1600 Mr landlord I said

Oxford City Council now awaits its latest application

How to prepare your property for the winter

ANDREWS

The clouds have gone back, the evenings are darker and colder and our long hazy summer is all but a distant memory So does that mean it's time to batten down the hatches and give up hope of selling your property until next spring? No most certainly not Likewise for landlords you shouldn't assume that securing a new tenant at this time of year will be tough to achieve

Yes certainly people don't relish the thought of battling the elements and spending their precious evenings navigating a new area but whether you're a seller or a landlord there are a number of easy things you can do to ensure that you provide a warm welcome to your viewers

A first impression always counts but over the winter this is especially so If you have an outside light make sure it's on so viewers can easily identify the property If you've got a garden make sure it's tidied following the summer remove any dead plants and keep on top of windswept leaves Any path up to the property should be clear and clean so that it looks nice and to ensure it's safe

Once inside, whether you're selling or letting make sure that those viewing are met with a warm welcome A cold property won't create a homely feel With the clocks having changed don't forget to adjust your thermostat so that you're not caught out with mis-timed heat and now is also a good time to have your boiler serviced For landlords make sure your gas safety certificate is up to date For added appeal you may wish to consider cavity wall or loft insulation that will not only warm your home now but act as a selling point to prospective purchasers A plus point here is that grants are often available to help cover costs

Whilst it may be dark outside some well-placed lamps will create a cosier feel that harsh lighting and for those with a working fireplace having this lit will act as a selling point to those viewing

So just because it's cold and dark outside don't have a gloomy outlook on selling or letting your property this winter For further advice on marketing your property visit www.andrewsonline.co.uk to find your local Andrews branch

DRIVEWAY RENOVATION

We also provide a block driveway renovation service. If you have a driveway that's looking a little worse for wear and you don't want to go the whole way and replace it, simply give us a call and we can clean and restore it to its former glory.

We employ a simple three stage renovation process when restoring old driveways: clean, sand and seal. The first stage is a straightforward cleaning of your driveway removing any accumulated grime and rejuvenating the paving. After this we sweep sand across your driveway to fill the grooves between the blocks restoring the evenness and uniformity of your driveway. Finally, when renovating non-permeable driveways we apply a waterproofing sealant, which aids and directs water runoff and drainage.

It's the most wonderful time of the year!

Yes, I know it's only October but in a few weeks time you'll be hearing those classic Christmas songs on the radio, the festive films will be on your TV and your family members will start to talk about presents they want to have.

The countdown to December 25 is on.

We might be seven weeks away from Christmas Day, which might see like a lifetime, however it says fly by and before you know it, it's the week before Christmas and nothing has been done.

One thing we can say is don't worry, as we are here to help.

We want everyone single one of you to enjoy Christmas this year, by getting the presents, decorations and food that is right for you.

At Christmas, you don't want to think about work, you want to spend quality time with the ones that you love and cherish the most, and we want you to achieve that.

So we spoke to a few businesses around the county to see how they can put your Christmas dilemmas to rest

It wouldn't be Christmas without Thomas at Didcot railway Centre!

NOW recognized as being one of the leading centers of its type the Didcot Railway Centre first opened as a visitor attraction in 1967

The Railway Centre recreates the golden age of the Great Western Railway with a fine collection of over 20 steam locomotives many housed in the original engine shed, and a collection of passenger coaches and freight wagons

December (along with the last weekend of November) at Didcot Railway Centre means one thing A day out with Thomas to meet Father Christmas

The centre is the only heritage railway in the UK to offer this unique combination whereby families get to ride behind the famous blue engine to meet Father Christmas in his grotto with each child receiving an age appropriate gift from Father Christmas

Visitors also get to meet the Fat Controller, Sir Topham Hatt, and take part in Thomas themed activities in the imagination station

This is available every Saturday and Sunday from 29th November to 21st December from 9 30am 4 00pm

All the prices are available on our website www did cotrailwaycentre org uk. Visitors can pay at the gate on the day, however advance booking is recommended at www dayoutwiththomas co uk/didcot

The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society

CHRISTMAS is always a glamorous occasion when The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society get together! However, they do usually dress in a little more than tinsel! But this is the fun that both dramatic societies have when producing shows. This picture is from a recent production of Calendar Girls, starred by the Henley Players, which raised over £1000 for the Lymphoma Research Charity, the dreadful disease that was centre of the show's plot. However many of the ladies belong to both Societies and are always game for a laugh!

If you are looking for a worthwhile hobby there is always something to do and lots of opportunity to get on stage. The Henley Players tend to produce plays whilst the Operatic Society - you guessed it - produce musicals. So there is something for everyone. If you do not want to get on stage, but would still like to be involved then there are a myriad of tasks such as costume, make up, props and stage hands, set building and so on - never a dull moment!

There is also a great deal of diversity in the productions that both societies mount at The Kenton Theatre in Henley. This Autumn sees the Players staging Accrington Pals - a tribute to the young men who died in WW1, whilst Henley Operatic are producing The Sound of Music - in fact, the two ladies in the front row are both playing nuns! Now that is diverse!

Tickets for either of these productions are available from www.kentontheatre.co.uk. If you are interested in joining either of these societies please contact the membership secretaries below: (And we promise you can keep your clothes on!)

Sobell Christmas Gift Fair

ON November 22 and 23, Sobell House Hospice Charity will descend on the halls and corridors of the stunning Radley College as they hold their annual Sobell Christmas Gift Fair.

There will be over 85 stalls offering a huge variety of items from children's books, toys, home ware, clothing, jewellery, food, drink, to accessories and arts and crafts.

There shall be something for everyone trying to find the perfect Christmas gift, or even a treat for themselves. Many of the items are unique or individually crafted and can't be found in the shops.

Refreshments are available for anyone wanting to take a break from shopping in the beautiful college refectory. There will be a selection of drinks, sandwiches and some very delicious cakes to indulge in.

All of the proceeds will go to help Sobell House Hospice continue to offer care and support to those people throughout Oxfordshire affected by terminal illness and their families.

The care at Sobell House is intended to be holistic, catering not only for medical needs but also providing help with emotional and practical needs.

Services include a day centre, in patient unit and also teams of nurses who support patients in their homes and on hospital wards.

Various therapies are also available such as complementary therapies, art and music therapy.

Many patients have cancer but others suffer from chronic conditions such as motor neurone disease, heart problems or respiratory problems. They don't need sophisticated high tech equipment but they do need a great deal of specialist care to enable them to live the rest of their lives as fully as possible.

We are also committed to helping the families of our patients by providing emotional and practical support throughout the period of illness and during bereavement.

Please come along and support this wonderful Christmas event and in turn help your local hospice.

Success for Ford's vans

BACK in 1965 Ford introduced their first Transit van to the world.

Described as a type of commercial vehicle, the transit was designed to help workmen and builders carry their equipment all over the country in an efficient way to get their jobs done.

And in the last 49 years Ford has seen sales of over seven million units worldwide.

So it is no surprise that figures released by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) show a total of 13 953 vehicles have been sold under the Ford Transit range in September this year alone.

The figures come just months after Ford's newest Transit range was launched in spring 2014.

They include the Transit Transit Custom Transit Connect and Transit Courier.

September's success placed the Ford Transit family in second place in the UK total vehicle sales behind the Ford Focus.

The Ford Transit Custom alone sold 7,477 units, putting the vehicle in 16th place in UK total vehicle sales.

Mark Ovenden Ford of Britain chairman and managing director said "In the high volume September sales

AEV EW Ford Transit

By James Richings

month Ford beat the overall UK market volume increase and maintained its strong sales momentum to secure record sales.

Our extended Ford Transit family which now has full availability since the arrival of the Ford Transit Courier in July is selling at record levels."

Sales figures for the Ford Transit and Ford Transit Custom combined, made it the fifth best selling nameplate in the UK in September after the Ford Fiesta and the Ford Focus who took the top two places.

This year to date Ford has sold 85 378 commercial vehicles for a 23.3 per cent overall market share in comparison to 55 589 units for a 22.8 per cent market share.

Ford commercial vehicle sales were further boosted due to the new "64" registration month by the full availability of Ford's extended CV range.

The Transits predecessor was the Ford Thames 400E a small van that only managed to produce 187 000 units between 1957 and 1965.

We must keep learning, says Exiles boss Burnell

HEAD coach Justin Burnell says London Welsh have to keep learning after they were beaten 52-26 by Bordeaux Begle in the European Rugby Challenge Cup

The French Top 14 side ran in seven tries at the Kassam Sta dium last Thursday to inflict an eighth consecutive defeat on the Exiles

Welsh are bottom of pool four after two games and also at the foot of the Aviva Premiership without a win this season.

By Jack Johnson
jack@tajlernewspapers co uk

Burnell was enthused by the Exiles endeavour and possession in the opposition 22 but errors once again proved cru cial.

He said. We ve just got to keep learning

We've got to give the competition the respect it deserves and we can t get away from the fact that we ve got to go out there

"It's a big eye opener"

Burnell added. "What can we learn from that?

Keep hold of the ball, that s the biggest thing

"There were three tries a from our attacking zone We spill the ball and two or three passes to pace and pace to burn

Welsh started the brighter and Olly Barkley kicked the Exiles into a 3-0 lead but Bordeaux soon found their rhythm and Lucas Blanc raced over for the first try converted by Pierre Bernard.

Barkley and Bernard traded penalties before Seb Jewell s grubber was turned into a counter attack and Metuisela Talebulamaqaqa went onto score a brilliant individual try

Clement Maynadier and Mat thew Clarkin added to the mis ery by scoring Bordeaux s third and fourth tries

The Exiles needed a big second half performance and Jewell went over early on but it was not to be a catalyst for a comeback as Bernard ghosted through before Darly Domvo added try number six

Daniel Browne forced his way over the whitewash for Welsh but there was still time for Bordeaux s seventh try as Domvo went over again

Burnell added "There is no margin in the Top 14 or Aviva Premiership

"Once you make an error you're on toast

Welsh continue their search for a win on Saturday when they face Bath in the LV Cup

Rowley hungry for more after Exiles debut

SCRUM-HALF Paul Rowley is looking to push on after his first competitive start for London Welsh against Bordeaux Begles last Thursday

Rowley featured as a sub in the defeat at Lyon four days earlier but was given the nod by Justin Burnell to start the Exiles second European Rugby Challenge Cup pool game at the Kassam Stadium

The Exiles went down to a 52-20 defeat to Bordeaux and the loss rather dampened Rowley s debut spirits

He said. "It was a good expe rience to get out there and play but the result didn t go our way and that s the main thing.

"And Lyon last week – a big crowd and great atmosphere – they re the kind of games you want to play in

"You don t want to be just training for the sake of training you want those big occasions

"Bordeaux at home is tha kind of game you work hard for"

Despite an eighth consecutive defeat the 26 year-old is confident that Welsh will soon break their duck

He said. "It's just errors and getting back that winning culture that the club had."

10-man City beaten at home

OXFORD City suffered a third successive defeat in the Vanar ama Conference North last Sat urday in a 3 0 loss at home to Hednesford Town

Justin Merritt s side have slipped to fifth in the league table as a result of the poor run which has seen City concede nine goals in three games

Last weekend s defeat at Marsh Lane came as a result of Hednesford taking advantage of having an extra man after Declan Benjamin was sent off.

Up until the break, City had been in control but Benjamin s two-footed challenge on Steve Diggin saw the right back shown a straight red

Almost instantly City began to swim against the tide and Richard Batchelor headed Hednesford into the lead just before half-time

The visitors continued to exploit the gaps opened up by Benjamin s dismissal and Glenn Walker netted Hednesford s second

City s miserable afternoon was com plete when Batchelor headed past Ben Abbey for his second of the match

Merritt s side will look to end their current winless run when they make the trip to Yorkshire to face North Ferriby United this Saturday from 3pm

Carlisle claim victory to end United's winning run

U'S BEATEN IN LAST MINUTE

MICHAEL Appleton says Oxford United need to improve at the top of the pitch after a last gasp goal denied them a point in a 2-1 defeat at Carlisle United last Saturday

Derek Asamoah's 89th minute winner ended United's two-game winning run in Sky Bet League Two leaving them 19th

United had been looking to make it three wins in a row and end a great week after victories over Tranmere Rovers and Northampton Town

And Oxford were good value for their lead as Danny Hylton netted his ninth league goal on the stroke of half time

However Carlisle performed an unlikely comeback with Mark Beck heading the sides level on 73 minutes before Asamoah grabbed the winner

Appleton said United should have killed the game off in the first half after they were left to rue several opportunities

He said "The players are in a good frame of mind and I felt we missed an opportunity in the first half to really kill them off

"I was delighted to go in 1-0 up it was a great time to score a goal but there was a really good opportunity for us to score three or four goals in that first half.

"Our final pass and decision was really poor and it cost us in the end.

"We need to be better in certain areas of the field and certainly in the attacking areas

United's fans made up 362 of the 4 329 crowd and Appleton hopes they will come out in force this Saturday at home to second placed Wycombe Wonderers

He added "I am sure we will be able to reward them at some point throughout the season on a couple of other away trips

"If they can turn up on Saturday it will be a banging atmosphere against a side that are riding high at the top of the league"

The draw for the first round of the FA Cup was made on Monday night and United have been handed an away tie at Vanarama Conference club Grimsby Town on November 8

Smith continues good form

OXFORD S Bradley Smith left Singapore in high spirits after finishing fifth at the Malaysian Grand Prix last Sunday

With one round remaining, Smith is seventh in the rider standings and only seven points behind teammate Pol Espargaro who is sixth

Smith qualified ninth and after developing a good rhythm found himself comfortably in sixth

Cal Crutchlow's retirement from the race saw Smith move up to fifth and, despite a valiant effort to overtake Stefan Bradl on the last lap, was forced to settle for 11 points

The last round is in Valencia, Spain on November 9
